Orthodontics

Helping you smile with confidence

HAVING a nice smile is no longer just for the privileged. More people are realising that they can have specialist orthodontic treatment at any age and it is more socially acceptable to have your teeth straightened, even as an adult.

Superb treatments are now available at Signature Orthodontics, a brand new specialist orthodontic practice in Edgbaston, the suburb at the heart of Birmingham's thriving Medical Quarter.

It is very much a family practice - Dr Preet Bhogal is the specialist orthodontist; his wife Dominika is the practice's orthodontic therapist; and Suky, the practice manager, is Preet's sister.

Set in a handsome, recently refurbished Victorian building on the corner of Harborne Road and Highfield Road, the Signature Orthodontics surgery has been fully equipped to a very high standard, with a focus on patient comfort, safety and aesthetic improvements.

"We have all trained to the highest recognized UK standards in our area of expertise and have a proven track record, just look at our website" said Preet. "We hope with our lovely new comfortable practice and our dentistry experience and expertise, we can bring Harley Street quality to the West Midlands.

"Appointment flexibility for our patients is also very important - and our opening hours can accommodate early morning, late evening and weekend appointments to suit."

Orthodontics is a speciality area of dentistry that is concerned with diagnosis and treatment of irregular alignment of teeth, jaws and the face. Orthodontists seek to use various types of braces to naturally improve alignment, function and aesthetics. A good fit (occlusion) of the teeth produces the most stable, healthy, well-balanced and attractive outcome. This will improve your bite, chewing, overall health and self-esteem.

The treatments are very affordable; the investment can be broken down into manageable payments over a short period.

Preet explained: "We love giving our clients a smile they can be proud of and show off confidently. Orthodontics is not just about straight teeth, it is about improving facial aesthetics and improving physical, mental and social well-being.

"There are so many associated benefits and we can provide this service to all people, irrespective of their age, sex or background and in a discreet manner.

"There used to be a limit to who could be treated and at what age. Unfortunately this is still the case within the constraints of the NHS. However, we are noticing a big surge in the request for treatment because having a nice smile builds confidence.

"Treatment for children remains a core part of our business and we offer out of school hours appointments to help parents plan their day.

"At Signature Orthodontics we endeavour to make sure our patients feel that we listened, we cared and we made them smile more confidently!"
